With Sally

In the years to come we shall always remember our Ad Man standing in front of the office declaiming the ad copy.

"Beer!" he will orate sternly, looking fiercely at the proof-reader. "Whole case for 97c. Daly City Nursery."

"Lucca Ravioli company, don't you mean?" the proof-reader will inquire timidly. "Daly City Nursery is the place where they have those lovely pansy and marigold plants for sale."

"Yes, yes," the Ad Man will say impatiently. "Lucca Ravioli. That's what I said all along."

"Geneva Bakery. Italian bakery goods. Panettone, fancy cookies and Italian cream cakes," he will read with expression. "Boy, oh Boy!"

The proofreader will look surprised. "I don't have any 'boy, oh boy,'" she interrupts innocently.

The Ad Man looks embarrassed. He clears his throat and scowls.

"Next we have Westlake Market," he continues hastily. "They have some real specials this week. Hominy, 14c. Sugar 10 pounds 51c."

"Where's the Daly City theatre ad?" says the proof-reader. "I've a date tonight and I want to see 'Ghost Breakers'."

"And say," she interrupted herself, "I wish someone would drop a hint to my boy friend to buy his candy at Goodness Candies where it's fresh. I broke a tooth on that last box he brought."

The Ad Man looks sympathetic. "Someone ought to send him to Jack Carney dance studio, too," he says. "Looks like an elephant on a hot griddle when he's out on the floor."

The proofreader momentarily forgets her awe of the Ad Man.

"He does pretty well," she answers hotly. "Anyway, he's asked me to go to the Fiesta with him, and that's more than other people have done."

The Ad Man looks indignant. He scorns to answer. He continues reading copy.

Almond Refrigerator Cookies win the whole family's vote

They're tops in crispy goodness —and so easy to make!

● Here's a cookie recipe you'll surely wish to make your own. For you can keep the dough in the refrigerator, then slice off cookies and bake them fresh any time you wish.

Toasted almonds blend with brown sugar to give these cookies a tantalizing flavor. But to let this tempting flavor come through to full deliciousness, you need a pure vegetable shortening like Spry.

These wholesome cookies are just the thing with a glass of milk, when the children come home from school. Treat your family to Almond Refrigerator Cookies soon.

What Makes Cookies Tender?

Why shortening, of course. So, for cookies that melt in your mouth, use an all-vegetable shortening that is exactly 100% shortening—a shortening to which no ingredients or liquids have been added. Use vegetable shortening for making light, delicate cakes, flaky biscuits, and crispy, digestible fried foods, too.

ALMOND REFRIGERATOR COOKIES

1 cup Spry	3 eggs, beaten
1½ teaspoons vanilla	1 cup almonds, finely chopped and toasted
1 teaspoon salt	4 cups sifted flour
2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed	1 teaspoon soda

Blend Spry, vanilla and salt. Add brown sugar and mix well. Add eggs and blend, then add nuts. Sift flour with soda; add to first mixture and blend.

Pack tightly into 8 x 8-inch pan greased with Spry and lined with waxed paper. Chill in refrigerator overnight, or until firm enough to slice.

Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 8 to 10 minutes. Makes 6 dozen.

(All measurements in this recipe are level)

At The Fair

With the end of the Golden Gate International Exposition drawing closer, more and more people are now coming to the Fine Arts Palace to see the unique set of miniature rooms on display there.

These 30 miniature rooms, lent by Mrs. James Ward Thorne of Chicago, are entirely different from those shown last year. While the rooms exhibited in 1939 covered only the French and English periods, this year seven major countries are represented. In every detail they are faithful to the period they represent, being built to the scale of one inch to one foot. The story of how they were made by Mrs. Thorne is extraordinary.

From early childhood, Mrs. Thorne loved miniature objects and appreciated the charm, workmanship and skill which went into the making of tiny things. Wherever she went on her travels, she collected rare and beautiful miniature objects. As her collection of miniatures grew larger, she started to make dolls' houses, which she gave to children in her family and to friends, to hospitals and orphanages.

Twelve years ago, when she was in Rome, she happened to see in the dusty window of an antique shop a pair of exquisite little chandeliers. Realizing that their price, $500, was prohibitive for a doll's house, and trying to find a more permanent setting for these two chandeliers, the idea came to her to make a real room in miniature, building it around these jewel-like fixtures. This first room Mrs. Thorne ever made is displayed in the exhibit at the Palace of Fine Arts—a resplendent Venetian salon. The very last room she built is also now on display—a Japanese ceremonial room.

Many of the objects in the various rooms are made by Mrs. Thorne herself: all the bits of needlework, curtains, bedspreads, and even the beautiful needlepoint rugs in the French rooms.

The lighting is one of the greatest charms of the rooms. It creates the illusion that real sunlight is pouring into the interiors of real rooms, casting shadows of the furniture on the walls.

According to Mrs. Margarita Weaver, curator of the Thorne rooms, the American kitchen of 1885 and the Victorian parlor are the most popular this year with Fine Arts visitors. They are beloved by everybody because they recall memories of our grandmother's parlor, cluttered with bric-a-brac, and of happy days in the country.

Central America Hails Independence Milestone

Observances throughout Central America will mark the celebration of the 119th anniversary of independence from Spain. It was on September 15, 1821, that Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica declared their independence. Their action was made possible by the successful revolution from Spain headed in Mexico by Augustan Iturbide and a few months later they joined his Mexican empire. Following its break-up they formed the United Provinces of Central America in 1823. Above is shown map of Central America and a likeness of Iturbide.

Wild West Glamour Revived at Pendleton Roundup

Covered wagon days and the glamour of the old West will be revived at Pendleton, Oregon, in the annual four-day Roundup The Far West's most celebrated rodeo attracts the most famous steer wranglers, lariat artists and stunt riders in America as well as thousands of Indians participating in parades and pageantry. Above are shown typical scenes in connection with the Roundup.

$59.95, Byrne Radio Store," he continues.

"Did you ever get that coffee out of your best suit?" inquires the proof-reader. "Beeson Cleaners could do it for you. They took my best dress and—"

"Never you mind," said the Ad Man. "You watch those typographical errors. I didn't spill very much anyway."

"Yes, but how about the time that you bought six dozen eggs on special at 33c from Robertson's Egg Store and on the way home you—"

"Good Heavens!" the Ad Man roars, "can't you keep your mind on business for a minute? It's going to be Christmas before we get this copy read."

"I know where we can get some grand Christmas cards free," says the proof-reader. "The Daly City Record is offering—"

The last time we saw the Ad Man he was sitting in a corner of Farmer's Market, drinking Bireley's fruit juices (6 for 25c), and reading ad copy all by himself.

Beginnings of Kindergarten

Maria Montessori, the Italian educater, studied at the University of Rome and graduated in medicine in 1894, being the first woman in Italy to do so. She then took up the subject of educating defective children. From the experience thus acquired, she came to the conclusion that similar methods might be applied to normal children of a lower age, and after a series of experiments on a small scale she extended them to a large number of children in private and public nursery schools in Rome. Her ideas on education have been set forth in several books which have been widely translated.

Borrowed First Prize

Bill Ray Harrison, 11-year-old farm boy, walked six miles to an amateur theater contest in Tulare, Calif., borrowed a guitar from the assistant manager of the theater and won first prize playing and singing "The Old Apple Tree in the Orchard."

Movie Fan

On a visit to the penal colony on Devil's island, French Guiana, Cameraman Pierre-Andre Martineau discovered the world's most enthusiastic movie fan. He was a convict whose body bore tattooed portraits of Garbo, Marlene Dietrich, Mary Pickford and other film stars. His gallery is now complete; he has no more room for pictures.

Location of Thermostats

Five feet above the floor is considered a generally satisfactory height for the location of thermostats. They should be placed in locations protected from drafts and not in contact with a large volume of air. The rather bulky thermostat of yesteryear has been beautified, and their location today on the living room wall does not mar the decorative scheme.

Phosphorous Buttons

After weeks of stumbling over each other in the pitch black streets, Berliners are now wearing round buttons the size of a penny around the neck or in the button hole. Covered with phosphorous, they glow in the blackness.

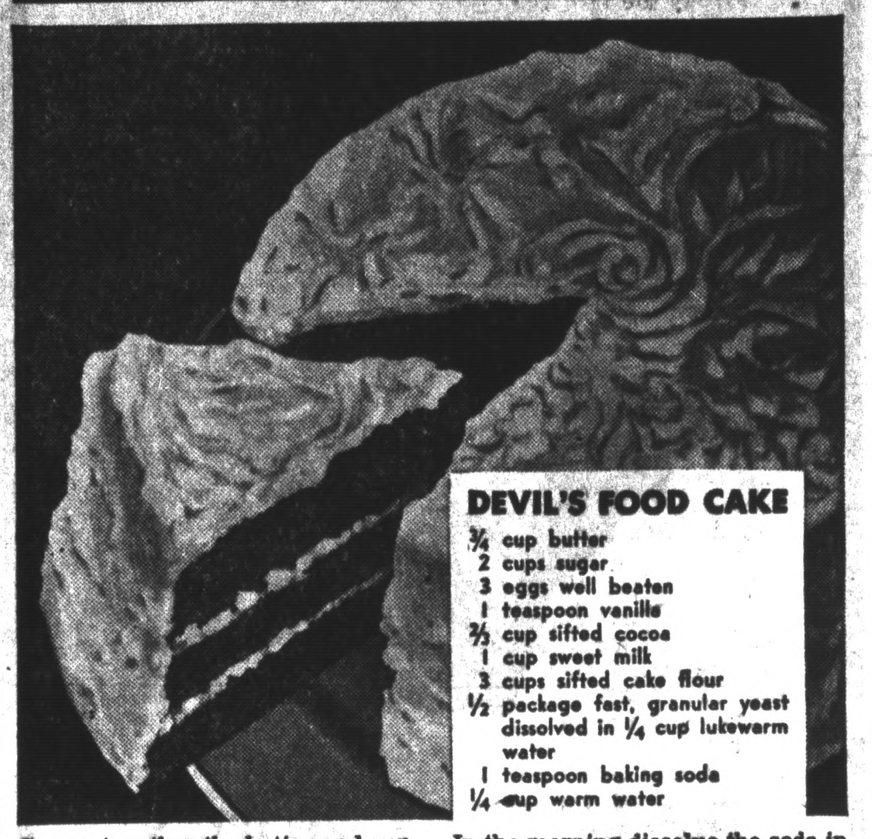
Cake Made With Granular Yeast Keeps Fresh Longer



DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE

- ¾ cup butter
- 2 cups sugar
- 3 eggs well beaten
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ⅔ cup sifted cocoa
- 1 cup sweet milk
- 3 cups sifted cake flour
- ½ package fast, granular yeast dissolved in ¼ cup lukewarm water
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ¼ cup warm water

Cream together the butter and sugar. Add eggs, vanilla and cocoa. Next add portions of the milk and flour alternately, then mix in the dissolved yeast. Let stand in mixing bowl overnight (covered) in a cool, not warm, place.

In the morning dissolve the soda in the warm water and add to cake mixture. Pour into 3 greased cake tins. Bake at once in a moderately hot oven (350° F.) about 25 minutes. Use soft white frosting between layers.

Cakes made with a new fast, granular yeast are among the latest triumphs in the art of home baking. The yeast-made cake is unusually tender and moist and remains fresh for days.

Here is a "company" cake that requires no mixing on that particularly busy day when you are expecting guests for dinner. You mix it the day before and keep the batter in a COOL place overnight.

Longest Army Gun Range

In the American army the 16-inch gun has the longest range, approximately 30 miles. The Paris guns used in the bombardment of the city of Paris during the World war had a possible maximum range of 79.5 miles, the longest range of any gun known.

Hatless Fad Not New

The hatless fad, which was at its height in '32 and '33, was neither new nor collegiate. It dated back before the American Revolution to the time when English dandies carried their hats in their hands to avoid mussing their curled and powdered wigs.

Chemical Energy Relationships

Today chemists without having to conduct a single experiment can frequently calculate whether a certain product can be produced from new and untried raw materials, the American Chemical society reports. Energy relationships are studied to learn whether or not an untried reaction will liberate free energy. Energy has a natural definite tendency to scatter, and this tendency provides the driving force of chemical reactions.

School Lunch Suggestions

By BETTY BARCLAY

If school lunches are among the problems that confront you at this season, it's a good idea to start collecting helpful suggestions now.

By packing a lunch box you can better control the noon meal for the school child than by giving him a luncheon allowance. Both plans have their points, of course. The one-time lack of hot food in the luncheon brought from home is now overcome with thermos containers.

Milk, fresh fruits, fresh vegetables, whole grain cereals, eggs and meat — all the essentials — can be included in the school lunch box — not necessarily at one time but often enough to give the child properly balanced meals. Be sure to include fresh fruit every day.

Probably the orange is the ideal fruit for the school lunch, available as it is the year around. It is an appetite stimulator for the "won't eat" child, and is rich in the protective elements so necessary to growing children — vitamins C, A and B, as well as calcium. This fruit is well protected and not easily bruised in packing; the skin may be loosened and sections partially separated before it is placed in the lunch box.

Since the sandwich is the basis for a majority of school lunches prepared at home, most mothers will welcome some

Sandwich Suggestions

Orange juice is good to thin peanut butter or cream cheese, or to moisten fillings of ground dates, raisins, figs and nuts. These make especially excellent fillings for toasted sandwiches.

Lemon juice gives added tartness to meat, egg and fish fillings where desired. Moisten fillings with lemon juice to taste. Or spread bread with butter (½ pound) creamed with lemon juice (1 tablespoon).

Orange Marmalade Sandwiches: Spread one slice of sandwich with Orange Marmalade, one with cottage or cream cheese or peanut butter. Marmalade fillings are especially good on orange or brown breads.

Orange Honey Bread

Variety in sandwich breads is an important factor in the appetizing school lunch. One of the most delicious varieties we have tested is an orange honey bread, sure to be popular with the school child. Moreover, it is a simple recipe for the busy mother.

- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 1 cup honey
- 1 well beaten egg
- 1½ tablespoons grated orange rind
- 2½ cups flour, sifted before measuring
- 2½ teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup orange juice
- ¾ cup chopped nut meats

Cream shortening and honey. Add egg and orange rind. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add dry ingredients to creamed fat and honey mixture, alternating with orange juice. Add chopped nuts last. Pour into an oiled 9 by 5-inch loaf pan. Bake at 325° for 70 minutes. Cut when cool and spread with cream cheese or orange marmalade.

Orange Salad Cup

As a change from fruit to be eaten out-of-hand, prepare a salad cup which may be packed in a small jar with screw top, paper salad cup or thermos container.

Combine:
- ½ cup fresh orange slices quartered
- ¼ cup pineapple pieces
- ¼ cup diced apple
- 1 tablespoon lemon mayonnaise

Latin America Purchases

Latin America increased its purchases of United States medicinals 30 per cent in the last year and accounted for 20 per cent of the total shipped from this country.

Automobile Ownership

Only one-quarter of America's 24,000,000 automobile owners have incomes of $60 a week or more, according to a survey reported by a South Bend, Ind., manufacturer.

What's New in Cooking

Praise Winning Pies

MAKING pies that are perfect isn't as difficult as it seems. And when the result is a combination of crisp, flaky, golden-brown crust, and a luscious, juicy fresh-fruit filling, it's well worth the small effort of learning how!

Fine ingredients, proper proportions of flour, fat, and liquid, skill in handling, and correct baking are the secrets of a perfect crust. Good ingredients and the necessary skill in handling are easily acquired; and baking presents no problem when you use a modern electric range. Accurately controlled temperature and uniform heat in the ovens of these new ranges insure even baking and browning whether your recipe requires high temperature or low. Just set the electric thermostat and turn the switch. Ovens preheat quickly and no waiting is necessary.

The fresh fruit season means pies and more pies. This Deep Dish Blueberry Pie is simple to make and it's the kind that will win praise from your family and your guests.

Deep Dish Blueberry Pie

1 flaky pie crust (unbaked)
1 quart blueberries
¾ cup granulated sugar
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon lemon peel (grated)

Line a good deep pie dish with flaky pie crust. Clean blueberries and drain. Place in pie dish and cover with sugar which has been mixed with the flour. Sprinkle with lemon juice and grated lemon peel. Cover with top crust. Press together firmly and flute edges. Cut a slit in top for steam to escape. Bake in hot oven with the electric thermostat set at 425° for about 35 minutes.

To Keep Left-over Pieces of Pastry Flaky

Lay the small pieces of left-over pastry carefully on top of each other, keeping them right side up. Then, using a rolling pin, pat and roll gently, and use as desired.

To Keep Pastry Canvas From Slipping

Sprinkle a small quantity of water on the table top and cover with the pastry canvas. The water holds the canvas taut.

To Improve the Flavor of Fruit Pie

To improve the flavor of cherry, peach, or apricot pie, sprinkle with a few drops of almond extract. If fruit pies are a little flat in flavor, add a tablespoon or two of lemon juice.

To Cook Cream Fillings

Cook cream fillings for pies on the surface unit of your electric range, without a double boiler. A choice of 5 measured heats on these new-type units provides just the proper heat for ever cooking operation.

To Keep a Pie Shell From Blistering

When baking a pie shell without the filling, prick the crust with a fork many times before baking.

To Keep Juicy Pies From "Running Over"

If you have difficulty with fruit pies boiling over in the oven, try this: Place pastry in pan as usual and fill with fruit. Then cut the top crust, cutting it about ½-inch smaller all around than the pie pan. Place on the pie and bake as usual. The ½-inch opening all around the edge prevents juices from boiling over.

GLAMOUR FOR FIESTA

Dorothy Lamour, glamorous movie and radio star, smiles a "thank you" as Frank Newton, representing the San Mateo County Fiesta, presents her with a bouquet of Peninsula blooms and invites her to see the spectacular floral exhibits of the Fiesta, coming to Bay Meadows, September 19 to 22.

COUNTY NEWS

Heroic Story—

The heroic story of an elderly woman's fortitude in dragging herself more than half a mile over a dark and lonely mountain side despite serious injuries received when her car rolled over a 500-foot embankment was told today by Dr. W. B. Hurlbut of Half Moon Bay.

At a San Mateo hospital, recovering from her ordeal was Mrs. Lois Stoddard, 69, Montara. Driving to visit friends at a secluded ranch house, Mrs. Stoddard had turned off Skyline boulevard nearly four miles south of the Skyline-Half Moon Bay intersection.

Her car missed a curve in the dirt road and plunged over the embankment. Thrown from the car about 100 feet down and badly injured, Mrs. Stoddard performed the "impossible" feat of dragging herself up to the road and into a near-by ranch house.

For Connoisseurs—

Connoisseurs of furniture and objects of art had arrived from all over the country this week to visit Atherton, where the furnishings of the beautiful country estate of Mrs. Herbert Fleishhacker are under the auctioneer's hammer.

The five-day auction, which began yesterday, is regarded as one of the most important in recent years. Value of the paintings, period furniture, decorations and numerous collectors' items is approximately $200,000. Several thousand Peninsula and Bay Area visitors are anticipated each day.

Retirement Plan—

San Mateo city employes will probably be included under the state employes' retirement plan about January 1, City Manager W. D. Soule said Thursday when it was learned the state will conduct a survey of local employes for the plan to cover conditions on October 1.

Soule said the state retirement plan officials had said details had been cleared to allow start of the actuarial survey immediately. Upon completion of the survey, a program of costs is to be set up and each department will then hold an election to determine wishes of employes to come under the plan.

SFPI Appropriation—

By a 5-2 vote, the Redwood City council last Tuesday night appropriated $1300 to San Francisco Peninsula, Inc.

The appropriation was reconsidered after the council, at a meeting last month, split 6-6 on a motion to increase the contribution from $500.

Rattle Snakes?—

A new peril faced the children of San Mateo this week as Poundmaster William Ely issued a warning that rattlesnakes were in the vicinity of the city.

Ely said a road crew for the Southern Pacific killed a rattlesnake on the right of way opposite Bay Meadows last Tuesday. He said presence of one snake might indicate others in the same area.

Major Development—

In one of the county's major real estate developments, slightly more than 100 acres of the Mills estate on the west side of El Camino Real adjoining North Burlingame will be subdivided within a short time.

Paving the way for northern expansion of Burlingame—blocked for many years by refusal of the Mills family to break up the extensive 2500 acre estate founded in the 1860's by the late D. O. Mills—the property will be developed as a $5,000,000 subdivision of between 500 and 600 residences.

Burlingame Grows—

With negotiations nearly complete for sale of a portion of the Mills estate property north of Burlingame, Burlingame real estate men and civic leaders today were looking forward to long-desired future expansion into the territory to the north of the city limits.

Proposed development of a $1,500,000 subdivision in the 42-acre tract just north of Burlingame between El Camino Real and the Southern Pacific tracks was revealed Friday.

Every Farmer May Aid In Soil Conservation

"Every farmer in this county will have a chance to do his share toward soil conservation, with the list of thirty-seven soil-building practices contained in the 1941 AAA program for California," stated Angelo Rovere, member of the San Mateo county agricultural conservation committee.

The California 1941 Handbook, as set up by the State committee on the basis of recommendations from this and other counties of the state, is now in Washington, D. C., with early approval anticipated. The complete handbook is expected to be in the county office some time this month.

"Perhaps the best feature about the new program is its adaptability to get more local conservation," Rovere said. "In addition to the new methods, many familiar practices for soil amendments are included.

"Plans for meetings with county and community committeemen and for 1941 elections will be announced soon."

Church Benefit Whist, Sept. 20

Daly City whist players are making plans this week for attending the monster whist party at Masonic hall one week from tonight.

Playing will start at 8:30 p. m. at Masonic hall, September 20. Proceeds will be used for the benefit of Our Lady of Perpetual Help church.

"There will be a large cash first prize," committeemen said today. "We have made all arrangements for a good party, and we cordially invite the public to attend."

World's Largest Telescope
The total cost of the largest telescope in the world at Pasadena, Calif., will be around $12,000,000.

DOUBLE-CROSS?

Zephyr-like ghosts, zooming bats, creepy dungeons, rattling skeletons and an assorted collection of wails and moans, have Bob Hope and Paulette Goddard a little on the jittery side in Paramount's mystery-comedy-thriller, "The Ghost Breakers," in which they are co-starred and which is now playing at the Daly City theatre. Even with their fingers crossed they are beginning to believe that this is more harrowing — and funnier than "The Cat and the Canary."

Crater Lake's Formation
Crater lake in Oregon was formed by a natural collection of water in an extinct volcano. This lake, which is probably the deepest in the United States, has a depth of 2,000 feet.

Development of Bicycle
The general idea of the bicycle is suggested in ancient carvings, but the machine was not successfully developed until the Nineteenth century.

Ghetto in Amsterdam
Probably no Ghetto in Europe has more American visitors than the one in Amsterdam. They come to No. 41 Waterloo Plein to see where Spinoza was born, and to the house at No. 4 Jodenbree street where Rembrandt lived for 16 years.

Castor Plant Products
The castor plant is used in the manufacture of lubricants, medicine, flypaper, paints, soap, linoleum, printing and sulphonated castor oil.

'A Dog's Tale'
Mark Twain's "A Dog's Tale" was first published in Harper's magazine in December, 1903. Subsequently it was privately printed by the National Anti-Vivisection society. In 1904 Harper's brought out the story in book form.
